DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

1. The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

2. Claims 20-31 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the written description requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor(s), at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention.

The new claim 20 includes the limitation “a plasma beam with a maximum density peak in a plane perpendicular to said plasma beam discharge directional axes”. This limitation is not supported in the specification. The specification teaches that the maximum density (i.e. density peak) is in the axis A (see paragraphs 5, 11, 45, and 46). Figure 1 clearly shows that the maximum density is at a distance 0.0.

The new claim 20 also includes the limitation “a DC plasma discharge configuration”. This limitation is not supported in the specification. The specification discloses a plasma discharge configuration. It is believed by the Examiner that such a limitation includes DC and RF power sources. Thus, the specification does not teach a DC power source only. If this is not the case then the Applicant must clearly state so and amend the specification to clearly teach that the power source is a DC power source.

Art Unit: 1792

3. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

4. Claims 20-31 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. It is not clear how the maximum density peak can be in a plane perpendicular to the plasma discharge axis.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 101

5. 35 U.S.C. 101 reads as follows:

Whoever invents or discovers any new and useful process, machine, manufacture, or composition of matter, or any new and useful improvement thereof, may obtain a patent therefor, subject to the conditions and requirements of this title.

Claims 20-31 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 101 because the disclosed invention is inoperative and therefore lacks utility. The maximum peak density is found on the axis of the plasma, it is not possible for the maximum peak density be found in a plane perpendicular to the plasma beam discharge direction axis.

Response to Amendment

6. Further examination is not possible until the problems caused by the limitation "a plasma beam with a maximum density peak in a plane perpendicular to said plasma beam discharge directional axes" is resolved.

Conclusion

7. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37

CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
